Once the last person is through the Van Wickle Gates on the front green, the procession inverts and continues down College Hill with each participant applauding the others.

The Medical School adjourns to the First Unitarian Church on Benefit and Benevolent streets. The Graduate School procession ends on Lincoln Field, where a tent accommodates spectators.

The senior class marches down College, Benefit, and Waterman streets to the First Baptist Church in America and are seated on the lawn. Family and friends wait on the College Green, where large screens afford a continuous view of the proceedings. Afterward, the seniors walk up the hill and take seats on the College Green for the University exercises.

Parents, relatives, and friends of seniors are advised to find seats on the College Green during the opening procession. The best opportunity to take photographs of graduating seniors is at the diploma ceremonies in the afternoon. In addition, the Van Wickle Gates will remain open for photographs until 6 P.M. on Monday.

THE MEETING HOUSE OF THE FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH IN AMERICA

The Meeting House, completed in 1775, was built "for the Publick Worship of Almighty God, and also for holding Commencement in." Central parts of the Brown Commencement ceremonies have been held here ever since. Moreover, during their tenure three Brown presidents were also ministers of this church, and all of the presidents who held office between 1764 and 1937 were Baptist clergy.

The conferral of baccalaureate degrees will take place on the grounds of the Meeting House and continue with the senior orations at the University ceremony on the College Green. Today's ceremonies keep the class of 2009 together and maintain a meaningful portion of the Commencement ceremony on the Meeting House grounds.

Brown University's 18th President

RUTH J. SIMMONS

Ruth J. Simmons was sworn in as the 18th president of Brown University on July 3, 2001. Under her leadership, Brown is making new investments to secure its standing as one of the world's finest research universities.

A French professor before entering university administration, President Simmons also holds an appointment as a professor of comparative literature and of Africana studies at Brown. She graduated from Dillard University in New Orleans before completing her Ph.D. in Romance languages and literatures at Harvard. She served in various administrative roles at the University of Southern California, Princeton University, and Spelman College before becoming president of Smith College, the largest women's college in the United States. At Smith, she launched a number of initiatives, including an engineering program – the first at an American women's college.

Simmons is the recipient of many honors, including the German DAAD, a Fulbright Fellowship to France, the 2001 President's Award from the United Negro College Fund, the 2002 Fulbright Lifetime Achievement Medal, and the 2004 Eleanor Roosevelt Val-Kill Medal. She has been a featured speaker in many public venues, including the White House, the World Economic Forum, the National Press Club, the American Council on Education, and the Clinton Global Initiative, and has spoken on a wide array of educational and public policy issues, including institutional governance, diversity, the importance of liberal arts, women in science, the impact of internationalization on higher education, and access to education. Simmons is a member of the National Academy of Arts and Sciences, the American Philosophical Society, and the Council on Foreign Relations, and serves on a number of boards. She has been awarded the Centennial Medal at Harvard University, as well as numerous honorary degrees.

THE ALMA MATER

TUNE: "Araby's Daughter," George Kiallmark
(1781–1835)

TEXT: "Alma Mater," James Andrews
DeWolf, class of 1861 (1839–1909)

Alma Mater! We hail thee with loyal devotion
And bring to thine altar our off'ring of praise;
Our hearts swell within us with joyful emotion
As the name of Old Brown in loud chorus we raise.

The happiest moments of youth's fleeting hours
We've passed 'neath the shade of these time-honored walls;

And sorrows as transient as April's brief showers
Have clouded our life in Brunonia's halls.

Brown Commencement Traditions

Commencement day at Brown University is a time of great ceremony, pageantry, and rejoicing, much of it representing traditions that are centuries old. These notes on the history, setting, and action of the Brown Commencement are offered in the hope that they will add to your enjoyment of this unique academic celebration.

COMMENCEMENT HISTORY

The seventh-oldest college in the United States, Brown was founded in 1764 as the College of the Colony of Rhode Island under the leadership of the Rhode Island Baptists.

The first Commencement was held on September 7, 1769, in what was then the College's home, the Baptist Meeting House in Warren, Rhode Island, 10 miles south of Providence. Seven young men were awarded degrees. The institution moved to Providence the following year, and in 1804 it acquired its present name in honor of a major benefactor, Nicholas Brown of Providence, class of 1786.

For the six years prior to the Declaration of Independence, Commencement ceremonies were held in Father Snow's Meeting House in downtown Providence, now Beneficent Congregational Church. In 1776 the ceremony moved to the First Baptist Meeting House, built in 1774-75 to house the oldest Baptist church in America, founded by Roger Williams in 1638, the second year of his exile from the Massachusetts Bay Colony. The meeting house was erected "for the publick Worship of Almighty GOD and also for holding Commencement in." A National Historic Landmark, it was completely restored in 1958 through a gift from the late John D. Rockefeller Jr., class of 1897.

In the early days Brown's Commencement was known as "the festival of Providence," widely attended by enthusiastic townsmen. So disorderly was their conduct that in 1791, the Rhode Island General Assembly passed a law requiring the high sheriff of Providence County to attend all Commencements "to preserve the peace, good order, and decorum in and about the Meeting House." The law still stands, and the sheriff still marches, identifiable by her full evening dress, high silk hat, blue sash, and sword.

During the 20th century, members of Brown's alumni classes began to hold their five-year reunions to coincide with Commencement weekend. Today more than 4,000 alumni and their families return to College Hill each year for a series of events capped by the Commencement procession on Sunday morning.

THE PROCESSION

Sunday morning, while the Commencement procession passes through Faunce Arch onto the College Green, the Brown Band begins to play the lilting "Brown Commencement March," arranged by the late Wally Reeves. The music is punctuated by the pealing of the College bell, which has rung from the cupola of University Hall since 1791; it is joined by the Meeting House bell, imported from England in 1775.

As the procession marches from the campus down College Hill to the Meeting House, it passes through the Van Wickle Gates, which swing open only twice a year: inward to admit the first-year class at Opening Convocation in the fall and outward on Commencement Day to discharge the degree candidates.

The parade is led by the chief marshal, a member of the 50-year reunion class, and by the chief and assistant chief of staff. They are followed by the color guard and alumni aides and marshals from various reunion classes. The men traditionally dress in top hats and tails, while women wear academic robes. The faculty, thousands of alumni, the graduating seniors, medical students, and graduate students, present and emeriti members of the Brown Corporation, invited guests, and the presidential party round out the mile-long procession. At one point, the procession stops and forms an inversion to allow each marcher to pass by all the others, to mutual applause.

THE OFFICERS

Prominent among the marchers are members of the Brown Corporation, the University's governing body, consisting of 12 fellows and 42 trustees. They can be identified by their large, floppy "trencher" hats, which were approved for use by the Brown Corporation in 1912 to provide a distinctive alternative to the traditional academic cap. Other colleges and universities have subsequently adopted the style. Robes, designed and adopted in 1968, are of the University's colors: seal brown and cardinal red, with black velvet trim.

Invited guests include candidates for honorary degrees, U.S. senators and congressional representatives from Rhode Island, the governor of Rhode Island, the mayor of Providence, and members of the city council, state legislature, and federal and state judiciary.

The presidential party – the president, the chancellor, the vice-chancellor, the chaplain, and the sheriff – is led by a mace bearer who is a faculty member and a Brown alumnus.

THE MACE

Once a weapon used to crush an opponent's armor, the mace has evolved into a symbol of authority. Brown's mace, which weighs more than 20 pounds, was given to the University in 1928. It is adorned with symbols from Brown's past and with the names of its presidents and prominent 19th-century alumni. The mace is carried in processions at the opening of the academic year, at Commencement, and at ceremonies where honors or degrees are to be awarded.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

The president's academic gown, and the golden chain and pendant that adorn her neck, became the official presidential regalia during the University's bicentennial celebration in 1964-65; the robe was designed by the late Anne S.K. (Mrs. John Nicholas) Brown, an expert on military and ceremonial dress. The caps, gowns, and hoods of others in the procession represent a tradition of academic dress that began in the 12th and 13th centuries, when cold stone buildings housed medieval universities. The gowns were an adaptation of clerical garb.

ACADEMIC HOODS

A scholar's hood, worn around the neck and hanging down the back, denotes degree, field, and alma mater. The band of velvet circling the outer edge of the hood varies in width according to the highest degree attained: narrow for the bachelor's degree, medium for the master's, and broad for the doctorate. The color represents the field of scholarship: arts and letters, white; economics, copper; education and pedagogy, light blue; engineering, orange; humanities, crimson; law, purple; medicine, kelly green; music, pink; philosophy, blue; science, gold; and theology, scarlet. The hood is lined with the colors of the institution attended by the wearer. A Brown University hood is lined in seal brown crossed by a broad band of cardinal red.

THE CANE

The cane carried by the president of the Brown Alumni Association serves as the symbol of that office. It is made of oak taken from University Hall when the building was reconstructed during the 1880s.

COMMENCEMENT SPEAKERS

Unlike most colleges and universities, Brown imports no Commencement speaker for the College ceremonies. On the College Green on Commencement morning, two members of the senior class, selected by a faculty committee, deliver short orations. The Graduate School and the Medical School invite speakers to their ceremonies on Lincoln Field and in the First Unitarian Church, respectively.

CONFERRING OF DEGREES

The conferring of bachelor's degrees is accomplished verbally on the grounds of the Meeting House, and the presentation of symbolic diplomas comes later on the College Green. Still later in the day, the seniors receive their actual diplomas at separate disciplinary ceremonies.

The words spoken by the president on the grounds of the Meeting House are:

*Socii honorandi: Juvenes quos ad gradum
Baccalauri idoneos comperimus, vobis praesen-*

tamus, et eos ad hunc gradum promovere liceat rogamus. Candidati ad gradum Baccalaurei auscultabunt. Auctoritate mihi commissa vos ad gradum Baccalauri admitto, omniaque jura ac privilegia ad hunc gradum pertinentia, vobis concedo. In huius rei testimonium diplomata vestris conlegis in Collegii Gramine tradam.

Honorable Fellows: The youths whom we have found to be qualified for the bachelor's degree we now present to you, and we ask that they may come forward for the awarding of the degree. May the candidates for the bachelor's degree listen attentively. Through the authority entrusted to me I admit you to the bachelor's degree, and all the rights and privileges associated with this degree I confer upon you. In testimony thereof I will presently deliver your diplomas to your representatives on the College Green.

After the president pronounces the awarding of the bachelor's degrees, all degree recipients return to the Green for the University Ceremony.

The Graduate School and Medical School have separate convocations for the awarding of master's degrees, Ph.D.s, and M.D.s.

THE UNIVERSITY CEREMONY ON THE GREEN

Following the senior orations, the ceremony takes place. The president takes her seat in the centuries-old Manning Chair, which once belonged to Brown's first chancellor, Stephen Hopkins, a signer of the Declaration of Independence and an early Rhode Island governor. It was used by Brown's first president, James Manning, and has seated successive presidents at their inaugurations and on Commencement Day. During the ceremony on the Green, the president bestows diplomas on representatives of each category of baccalaureate degree and then speaks this admonition: Videte igitur ut probe, integreque, in emolumentum rei publicae et in Dei honorem, ut decet eos hoc gradu honoratos vos geratis. "Take care that you conduct yourselves, with probity and integrity to the credit of the state and the honor of God, as befits those who have been honored with this degree."

The ceremony continues with the awarding of the honorary degrees. A benediction concludes the formalities on the College Green.

Separate diploma ceremonies, inaugurated in 1974, are conducted by department chairs immediately following the ceremony on the Green. Each ceremony is attended by the faculty of the department, a representative from the Corporation, the degree recipients, and their parents and guests. The ceremony sites are listed at the end of the Commencement program.

Candidates for Honorary Degrees

RICHARD C. BARKER
Doctor of Humane Letters

Richard Barker, a 1957 graduate of Brown University and former Naval aviation officer, is a noted captain of industry and civic volunteer. In 2005, he retired from the Capital Group, where he had served as vice chairman of Capital Group International Inc. and chairman of both Capital International Ltd. and Capital Guardian Trust Company. While there, Barker helped coordinate and manage Capital's $300 billion global institutional portfolio management business. Barker remains involved in finance, serving on the advisory board of two venture capital funds: Champion Ventures and Pharos Capital Partners.

In July 2008, Barker began a three-year term as chairman of the San Francisco Ballet Board of Trustees. He had served in various capacities on the board since 2003 and served on the ballet's Endowment Foundation Board. Additionally, Barker is a former trustee of the California Film Institute, Youth Tennis Advantage, the Naval War College Foundation, and the Branson School (past board president). He is also a trustee of the BASIC Fund and the Survivor Corps. At Brown, Barker serves on the board of overseers of the Watson Institute for International Studies, is a University trustee emeritus, and is the father of two Brown graduates. Today he leads the University's campaign for financial aid, an initiative within the Campaign for Academic Enrichment.

MARY LINDSAY ELMENDORF
Doctor of Humane Letters

Anthropologist Mary Elmendorf is perhaps known best for her studies of Mayan women in Mexico and elsewhere in Latin America. She has also been a peace activist for more than 60 years, working tirelessly to advance peace and help women in emerging countries. Elmendorf has focused on daily quality of life in these societies, directing her energies toward improving drinking water and sanitation, and providing information on human rights and access to birth control. As director of CARE in Mexico in the 1950s, she helped launch well-drilling projects to bring safe drinking water to villages.

Elmendorf, who completed her Ph.D. in anthropology at the Union Graduate School in Antioch (now Union Institute and University) in 1972, was appointed to the Ford Foundation's first task force on women in 1972. In 1975, she became the first anthropologist hired on staff at the World Bank. Elmendorf remained with the World Bank as a consulting anthropologist through 1995. She also worked with agencies including IDRC, IRC, USAid and WHO, focusing on water sanitation in Latin America and other regions. Elmendorf participated in United Nations conferences on women in 1975 in Mexico, Copenhagen (1980), Nairobi (1985), and Beijing (1995). Active in the 1978 U.N. conference on water in Mar del Plata and the organization's conference on the environment in Rio de Janeiro in 1992, Elmendorf has pursued similar projects in a variety of places, including New College, Hampshire College, and Brown University.

JERRY FISHMAN
Doctor of Science

Jerry Fishman, a native of New York City, began his career with Analog Devices in Norwood, Mass., in 1971, focused on product marketing. Over the years, he has held various management positions at Analog, which makes semiconductor devices. He moved up the ranks through 1991, when he was elected president and chief operating officer. He became president and chief executive officer in 1996 and serves on the company's board of directors.

A board member of other publicly held companies, including Cognex Corp. and Xilinx Corp., Fishman is a member of the advisory board of the Achtmeyer Center at the Tuck School of Business at Dartmouth College, and is a trustee of the Lahey Clinic. At Brown, Fishman has supported a variety of teaching and research projects in the Division of Engineering, including the "Studio Lab" and the Laboratory for Engineering Man/Machine Systems. Fishman earned his bachelor of science degree from City College of New York in 1967, a master of science degree from Northeastern University in 1970, an MBA from Boston University in 1972, and a law degree from Suffolk Law School in 1976.

JESSIE C. GRUMAN
Doctor of Humane Letters

Jessie Gruman is devoting her professional life to making Americans healthier and more empowered to make effective choices about their health care. She is president of the Center for Advancing Health, a Washington, D.C.-

based independent, nonprofit policy institute she founded in 1992. The Center for Advancing Health focuses on improving quality of life and eliminating health disparities. It has attracted funding from the Annenberg Foundation and the W.K. Kellogg Foundation, among others. Gruman has worked on these issues on a wide scale in the public and private sector at various places including AT&T, the National Institutes of Health, and the American Cancer Society.

She also teaches, lecturing at the School of Public Health and Health Services at the George Washington University. The Center for Medical Technology Policy, the Advisory Panel on Medicare Education of the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, and the Public Health Institute all count on her expertise as a member of their respective boards of trustees. Gruman is the author of two books: Behavior Matters and AfterShock: What to Do When the Doctor Gives You – or Someone You Love – A Devastating Diagnosis. She has received a number of academic honors for her work, and Research!America has honored her for her leadership of advocacy efforts for health research.

JIM YONG KIM
Doctor of Medical Science

Recently elected president of Dartmouth College, Jim Yong Kim is a renowned physician and researcher as well as a trained medical anthropologist. The 1982 Brown University graduate has 20 years of experience working on improving overall health in developing countries. At the World Health Organization (WHO) earlier this decade, Kim spent three years overseeing international treatment, prevention, and care programs for HIV/AIDS, focusing on initiatives for developing countries. He is a founding trustee and the former executive director of Partners in Health, a nonprofit organization that focuses on poor communities and supports health programs in Haiti, Peru, Russia, Rwanda, Lesotho, and the United States. Kim, an expert in tuberculosis, has chaired or served on committees on international TB policy.

After earning his A.B. from Brown, Kim received his M.D. and Ph.D. from Harvard University. Among his numerous honors, he was awarded a MacArthur “Genius” Fellowship in 2003. Time magazine named him one of the 100 most influential people in the world in 2006, and U.S. News & World Report named him one of America’s 25 best leaders in 2005. At Harvard, where he has held appointments at both the Harvard School of Public Health and Harvard Medical School, Kim has led an initiative in global health delivery. The project is designed to discover and share knowledge about how best to launch health programs in poor communities.

DAVID E. SALTZMAN
Doctor of Humane Letters

David Saltzman has spent much of his career trying to improve people’s lives. The 1984 Brown graduate began his public service career working with homeless families for the Human Resources Administration of the City of New York. At different times in his professional life, he ran two AIDS education programs for the New York City Department of Health and served as special assistant to the president for the city’s Board of Education. In 1988 he became one of five founding board members of the Robin Hood Foundation and has served as executive director of the nonprofit since 1989. Since its founding, the foundation has raised more than $1 billion to fight poverty in New York City. The group has also helped attract more than $125 million in donated goods and services for the organizations it supports. In 2009 the organization expects to distribute $150 million to help New York city residents living in poverty.

In the aftermath of the September 11 terrorist attacks, the Robin Hood Foundation formed a relief fund that distributed more than $67 million to victims’ families and helped low-income families affected by the attacks. Saltzman has been named one of Time magazine’s 100 Innovators. Columbia University, where Saltzman earned a master’s of public policy and administration, awarded him its Global Leadership Award. Brown has also honored Saltzman with its John Hope Award for distinguished alumni.

FAREED ZAKARIA
Doctor of Laws

Fareed Zakaria is an editor and journalist known globally for his perspectives on international affairs. He has served as editor of Newsweek International since October 2000 and writes a regular column for the main Newsweek magazine that also appears in the Washington Post. Not long after the September 11 terrorist attacks, Zakaria wrote a Newsweek cover story, “Why They Hate Us,” which drew numerous honors and attention for its clear, reasoned analysis of the attacks, the background, and the immediate aftermath. The Boston Globe, in reviewing the story, said it “ought to be mandatory reading in every home in America.” Zakaria has also hosted the program Foreign Exchange on PBS, appeared as a roundtable member on ABC News’s This Week with George Stephanopoulos, and acted as an ABC News analyst. For the last year, he has hosted Fareed Zakaria GPS, a weekly foreign affairs program broadcast on CNN Worldwide.

Zakaria’s 2008 book, The Post American World, focuses on the rise of China, India, Brazil, and others as emerging powers. It went on to become a New York Times bestseller. He is also the author of The Future of Freedom, a book published in 2003 that looks at how democracy has changed every aspect of contemporary life. Zakaria serves on the boards of the Trilateral Commission, the International Institute of Strategic Studies, and the Council on Foreign Relations.
